We're

Crowdsourcing Surgical Improvement!

3RD ANNUAL SQAN MEETING

SHERATON VANCOUVER AIRPORT 7551 WESTMINSTER HWY RICHMOND

OCTOBER 28, 2013

The big question!

WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO PROVIDE TOP SURGICAL CARE IN BC?

7:45 – 8:30	Breakfast
8:30 – 8:45	What Does it Take to Provide Top Surgical Care in BC? Doug Cochrane, MD Chair BC Patient Safety and Quality Council
8:45 – 9:30	The Checklist Paradox Lorelei Lingard, PhD Director of the Centre for Education Research & Innovation at The University of Western Ontario Team communication is critical to patient safety and care quality. Surgical checklists reflect this knowledge. Unfortunately, surgical checklist performance is often reduced to a matter of 'compliance' rates in service of an audit culture. When this happens, the checklist initiative fails to achieve its intended purpose of collective competence in the operating room. We need a way forward from the current paradox of surgical team checklists.
9:30 – 10:30	What's a Crowd-driven Conference? Topic Discussion Prioritization What do you want to talk about?
10:30 – 11:00	Break
6 CONCURRENT SESSIONS
11:00 – 12:00	What's Cool About Normothermia? Kelly Mayson, MD and Dan Werry, MSc (MD Candidate) Come and learn how Vancouver General Hospital has tackled hypothermia. They will host an interactive session that covers their early successes and explores the challenges of implementing interventions while considering OR culture.	Crowd Sourced Topics Example: Feedback Loop to Staff: What is the best way?
12:00 – 12:45	Lunch Check out the SQAN Studentships Poster Boards*

12:45 – 13:30

Enhanced Recovery: Can We Really Have It All?

Olle Ljungqvist, MD PhD

Chairman of the International Enhanced Recovery After Surgery Society

Professor of Surgery at Örebro University Hospital, Sweden

Ron Collins, MD

Project Medical Director, Enhanced Recovery, Interior Health

Clinical Consultant, BCPSQC

Enhanced Recovery processes of care have repeatedly been demonstrated to improve surgical outcomes. Implementation of ERAS can be challenging. Recognizing some of the cultural barriers is important. We propose a data-rich, outcome driven process to support site-specific implementation of ERAS.
